Soft Skirting

Synopsis

The soft skirtings from Syannlab “PRIM” series are especially recommended in heavy-use public locations. The fitness for use of these skirting is very well aligned with the expectation criteria in institutions, Laboratories, hospitals and in industrial construction.

PRIM soft skirtings are made of a very robust plastic material (generic name : sPVC) that is unaffected by moisture and therefore can withstand daily washing. Offered high mechanical strength property thanks to toughness

In addition to Syannlab’s “PRIM” soft skirting, does not require corner angles from us, should be cut at corner. They are used for transitions between different types of flooring, on stairs, as finishing in wet rooms or on corners that are extra exposed to impact and collision in transport
